BROTHERS OF THE AUTUMN

Brothers of the autumn—here's our Lodge of Love.
The rainbow of the foliage and the bright blue dome above;
The rustle of the brown leaves
The whistle of the gale;
The sunbeam of the mountain
And the gold mist in the vale.
Brothers of the autumn—watch-
word have we none,
Except the love of living where
the autumn sunbeams
Rise;
Our secret known to all men,
Our ways to all men free;
The crimson of the sunset,
The turquoise of the sea.

Brothers of the autumn—
glowing cheek for sign,
The dreams our only manna and
the fresh air for our wine;
The fairy fiddle answering
The tingle of our feet,
And the swaying adventure
In the clean world all so sweet.
Brothers of the autumn—our
creed the tingling rille,
The laughter of the clean heart
and the sunshine of a smile;
No dues except devotion,
To all life's lure and rest—
To love the common daylight
And leave to God the rest.

THE DYNAMITE EATER

ACCORDING to a story published today from Samuel J. Graham, assistant United States attorney general, Col. Roosevelt said some startling things in his speech at Battle Creek.

Particular attention is called to the fact the colonel said that had he been president when the Lusitania was sunk he would have seized all German ships in American ports.

Had Roosevelt been president and did as he says he would have done we would quickly have been involved in war with Germany. There were three German men of war in our ports. To have taken those ships along with all German merchantmen in our waters could have meant but one thing. We would have gone headlong into the flaming pit of war.

The colonel's Battle Creek speech shows he is even more of a firebrand than the country previously realized. It is extremely fortunate for the nation he is no longer in the White House.

But what of Hughes? He is relying heavily upon the Roosevelt support and therefore will be under deep obligations to the colonel if elected.

Can the country afford to choose as president a man whose star supporter is such a dynamite eater and German hater?

308

AT the election Nov. 7 a vote for 308, Yes, will be a vote for the proposition of a state normal school at Pendleton. In other words our city is upon the ballot and we champion a worthy cause. The proposal is endorsed by practically every educator in the state and by most all men and women who know the normal school situation. There is genuine belief on the part of school folk that the eastern Oregon normal should be at this place. But a vast number of voters are either ignorant or indifferent to the facts in the case. We must wake them up and get them in line for 308. If they will but do so the people of Pendleton may wage a personal campaign of great effectiveness throughout the state. Write to your friends, relatives and those with whom you may be dealing. Send them a folder and make a personal appeal for favorable consideration for our measure.

CONFINED TO POLITICIANS

SOME timorous politicians cling to the belief that when the war is over the crippled and debt ridden European nations will at once become more formidable competitors of the United States than ever before. They reason that Europe half dead and half famished will be more vigorous and efficient than before the war.

This strange belief, however, is not entertained by some of our real industrial leaders. James A. Farrell, head of the United States Steel Co. is one of these.

"At the end of the conflict," says this gentleman, "the United States will have the greatest gold accumulation ever possessed by a single nation. American foreign trade will surpass all records. The United States will be both the largest customer and the most formidable competitor of Europe."

It is encouraging to hear such words from a man who has some practical knowledge on the subject.

As long as the "alarm" over the after-the-war competition is confined to politicians the country need not worry.

THEIR CONDESCENSION

THE following shows the manner in which the Golden Special was viewed by the New York World:

At a time when women may vote for president in twelve states there can be no possible objection to the Hughes Women's Campaign Train. It embraces every luxury of railroad travel. It carries many seasoned feminine orators. It is financed by some of the wealthiest women in the world, not all of them dissociated from men who might hesitate to start on a like expedition, fearing publicity.

What is remarkable about the enterprise is that it is paid for, managed and in most of its aspects represented chiefly by eastern women who never have voted and, as some people think, are never likely to vote. By this means, Fifth Avenue, Newport, Riverside Drive, Rittenhouse Square, the Berkshires and the Orange Mountains hope to diffuse among the voting women of Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington, California, Arizona, Kansas, Oregon, Nevada, Montana and Illinois such evidences of eastern opinion, fashion and culture, as will necessarily result in the defeat of Woodrow Wilson.

The mission is perfectly legitimate and it may be wonderfully successful, but it is to be remembered that it is to address itself to women who have been voting for a long time, who have learned the ropes, who have seen money cleverly used in campaigns before, and who as plain Americans are likely to resent anything savoring of tutelage, condescension or patronage, especially by eminent personages from the east who cannot vote.

VILLA PAYS GOLD TO AMERICANS AND THEN ROBS THEM

AVALO, Colo., Oct. 9.—For three years a practicing physician in the Villa army in Mexico, at a large salary, which was paid in gold, Dr. Stewart, who has just located here for the practice of his profession, finally obtained his release and made his way back to the United States, in company with other Americans who were employed in various ways about the Villa camps.

Dr. Stewart tells many interesting stories of his experiences with the Villa army and of the troops. Among these is one of the robbery of a train on which he was riding in his departure from Mexico to the United States. According to Dr. Stewart, after paying the employees in gold and starting them on their way to the states, Villa sent a detachment of his army ahead for several miles to stop and rob the train. When the departing Americans reached a certain spot, the bandits held up the engineer and went through the passengers on the train, taking from them all the money they had been paid for three years' service in the bandit's army. From one of these the bandits obtained $17,000 in gold and left the American penniless for his journey back home.

This Simple Laxative A Household Necessity

DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN SHOULD HAVE A PLACE IN EVERY HOME.

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly everyone experiences with more or less frequency, is the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach, foul gases and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed, but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent to their action and shock the system. The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The Hon. John D. Keister of Brandywine, W. Va., who has represented his district in the state legislature for six years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild, yet positive, in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States and costs only fifty cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not gripe, and is recommended as a family laxative, mild enough for the tiniest babe, yet sufficiently powerful to act easily on the strongest constitution.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

FALLS DYING IN DUEL, THOUGH NOT INJURED

Case Puzzles Pittsburgh Doctors, for Only Blank Cartridges Were Fired.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—As a result of a bloodless duel between Walter Jonke, twenty-two, and John Honick, twenty-three, late last night, the death of Honick is expected by physicians, who are now puzzled by the strangest case known in local medicine annals.

Jonke and Honick had been at odds for several months. Finally they decided to settle the feud with pistols at thirty paces. Friends of the men, however, prevailed upon the seconds to substitute blank cartridges for ball in the weapons to be used.

Late last night the two principals with their seconds entered an alley in the rear of South Twenty-ninth street and took their places. At the word both men began firing. Suddenly Honick crumpled in a heap. Thinking that a ball cartridge may have been left in Jonke's weapon by oversight one of the seconds hurriedly sought a physician. Examination developed the fact that Honick was unconscious but unscathed. His condition was said to be critical.
